510 Communities Reached

CIF supports a wide range of organizations, programs, people, and communities in urban, rural, and remote regions of Saskatchewan. CIF's grants have reached 510 cities, towns, villages, hamlets, and communities throughout our prairie province.

21% of the province's population benefit annually from CIF's support of programs and initiatives.

$175,525,862

Since its first grants in 1996/97, CIF has approved more than $175 million to support 510 communities throughout the province. CIF's support has helped individuals and communities with access to services, supports, and programming designed to enhance the quality of life and wellbeing for Saskatchewan people.

Throughout its twenty-five years, CIF has supported a wide range of programs and initiatives. CIF has funded programs that support the development of children and youth – providing young children with a good start in life and preparing youth for the future. These programs help provide accessible opportunities for children and youth to gain the knowledge, skills, and supports to develop positive mental health, self-esteem, and healthy lifestyle behaviours, and ensure families have access to supports and resources to create healthy and caring environments.

Along with children and youth programming, CIF has funded programs for all ages that support healthy lifestyles and inclusive communities. These programs and services increase opportunities for individuals to participate in learning, culture, recreation, physical literacy, and physical activity; and for individuals to have the knowledge, skills, and resources to prevent or address issues such as problem gambling, addictions, violence, and bullying. As well, helping ensure communities are engaged in activities that promote cultural understanding, respect, community pride, and social connections. Having access to these services and supports contributes to a stronger sense of belonging and provides people with opportunities to flourish.

CIF also acknowledges the importance of community leadership. CIF has provided grants to support community leadership development, volunteerism, and training for nonprofit staff, board members, and volunteers which enhances the ability of nonprofit organizations and community groups to better serve their audiences.

We extend our gratitude to all of the organizations, citizens, and volunteers for the work they do on behalf of Saskatchewan communities and residents that keep these programs and supports available and accessible to help our communities grow stronger. Though often unrecognized, it is immeasurable in the benefits it brings. CIF is proud to be able to support their efforts and dedication.
