

CIF's Resource Roundup: Collective Impact.

(June 2016)

Making Collective Impact Work; Tamarack

In this audio seminar, Paul Born speaks with John Kania about collective impact, a more collaborative and comprehensive approach to addressing complex challenges. Learning objectives include introducing the concept of Collective Impact; exploring the essential elements for implementation; and considering the 'essential intangibles' – another important dimension of success in collective impact work.

Five Good Ideas about Collective Impact; Maytree

For complex issues like homelessness, poverty, environmental sustainability, and economic development, simple, single-sourced solutions are not working. We need to explore new approaches. Collective Impact provides a framework for community leaders to tackle these complex problems. Watch this 40 minute video on 5 good ideas about collective impact by Liz Weaver, Vice-President of Tamarack.

Collective Impact; Stanford Social Innovation Review

Large-scale social change requires broad cross-sector coordination, yet the social sector remains focused on the isolated intervention of individual organizations. This article goes into detail on topics such as isolated impact, the 5 conditions of collective success, funding collective impact, and future shock.

Collective Impact: Creating Large-Scale Social Change; SSIR & FSG

Start off by watching a 2 minute motion graphic describing the concept of collective impact. Next, scroll down to the bottom of the page for a 60 minute webinar on Collective Impact: Creating Large-Scale Social Change from the Stanford Social Innovation Review and FSG. Directly under the webinar, you can save a copy of the presentation slides.

Collective Impact Shared Resources; Collective Impact Forum

Looking for some more resources on collective impact? Check out these extra resources to provide additional background information and expand on the concept of collective impact.